PITTSBURGH TRIPLE CRIME IS STILL MYSTERY

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

CINCINNATI, June 20.—There has never been a more complete about-face than the decision of the British cabinet to scrap sanctions. It seems hardly credible that it originates from Mr. Eden and Mr. Baldwin. Those two flaming advocates of punitive action against Italy at last admit that the jig is up, and that that particular snarl of unenforceable treaty obligations is about to be tossed into the waste-paper basket along with the other ravellings of European diplomacy.

The United States is often criticized for the uncertainty of its foreign policy, especially for the provision in our constitution that gives the senate power to block a president who would drag us into the quarrels of other nations.

There is no uncertainty, however, about where the Republican party stands on foreign entanglements. The Cleveland platform declares against our joining the League of Nations or the League Court, in language which needs no interpretation. This is another plank the New Dealers will have to match, or else do a lot of explaining.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Some sneaky thief has been taking the electric light bulbs from the horseshoe pitching courts on Allen street. Three lights have been taken recently. The police will try to break up this practice.

While engaged in planting today, Joseph Dineen, superintendent of the Cunningham and Weingartner nurseries on the Butler road unearthed a half dollar dated 1865. The coin is in excellent condition and apparently was used as an ornament at one time as it has a small hole punched in it. It had been underground for many years apparently.

Pa New is informed that 80 years of age don't keep "Bobby" Wallace, former resident of Edensburg, from hiking back and forth from New Castle to Edensburg daily, to work a garden plot at that place. He is extremely agile for his age.

Sunday evening church services start for the summer season at Cascade Park, tomorrow. The services begin at 7 o'clock.

Tomorrow is Father's Day.

It seemed that a large percentage of the autoists who drive down town in the evening stayed at home last night to listen to the fight returns observers relate. Every night with the exception of Sunday night, parking space between North street and East Washington on North Mercer street, is at a premium, but last night hardly one half of the space was filled between seven and eleven which seem to be the peak hours.

Triple Slayings Murder-Suicide Is Police Claim

Believe Pittsburgh Woman Killed Children And Then Ended Own Life

DEPUTY CORONER DISPUTES THEORY

Husband Convinced Wife Not Guilty Of Triple Crime; Brothers Also

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 20.—Promising to produce an explanation of the triple slayings of Mrs. Eleanor Feely, 30, and her two children, Robert 5, Janice, 3, late today, police gave every indication of pronouncing the deaths murder and suicide.

It was believed police were preparing to uphold their original theory that the mother, nervous and distraught after nursing the boy through a serious attack of scarlet fever, strangled her two children with a rope, stabbed them with an ice pick, stabbed herself by throwing her body against the ice pick which she held handle first against the wall, and then attempted to strangle herself.

Police authorities were split into two camps over the deaths of the attractive young wife of a University of Pittsburgh physical education professor and her two small children. Sergeant Ralph Barton, of the city homicide squad, speaking for the city police, had declared definitely it was a case of murder and suicide.

Believes Triple Murder
But John Artz, special coroner's investigator, stuck doggedly to his theory that the three were victims of a cold-blooded killer who left no clues.

The husband, Martin Feely, numbed by the shock, declared over and over again his cultured and intellectual wife, a brilliant student (Continued On Page Two)

Grand Circle Convention Opening With Reception To Officers In Cathedral

THREE HUNDRED ARE OFFICIAL DELEGATES

New Castle will extend a hand of welcome to Protected Home Circle members from all of Pennsylvania when they arrive here Monday afternoon to attend a three-day "Jubilee Year" Grand Circle convention. Roy E. Erwin, chairman of the convention committee, states that the local organization is prepared to handle the largest convention ever to be held by the Grand Circle. There will be 300 qualified delegates here and probably as many more other members and friends will attend at least some of the sessions. Numerous degree teams from far and near will present exhibition drills.

Grand Officers Coming.
The Castleton is to be the convention headquarters but all the hotels will be housing delegates and arrangements have been made to take some in private homes. All meetings will be conducted in the Cathedral.

Many supreme and grand officers will be present, including the supreme president, S. H. Hadley of Sharon, and the Grand president, Ida Armstrong of Pittsburgh. No sessions are scheduled until 8 o'clock Monday night when a reception will be given to the officers. An exhibition drill will be conducted and a dance will take place in the Cathedral crystal ballroom.

The first closed session will be on Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. There will be a dance each night.

Principals In Pittsburgh's Triple Slaying

JANICE, THREE

MRS. ELEANORE FEELY

BOBBY, FIVE

MARTIN FEELY

Following the discovery of a well-defined man's thumb print on the death hammer, the only clue, Pittsburgh authorities renewed their efforts to unravel one of the city's weirdest mysteries—the slaying of a mother and her two small children. The body of Mrs. Eleanor Feely, 30, left, young wife of a University of Pittsburgh professor, was found in her apartment home. A hammer had been used to twist a tourniquet around her throat. The two children, Bobby, 5, top, and Janice, 3, below, were found in the nursery, both strangled. All bore marks on the left temple, apparently inflicted by an ice pick found in the home. The husband, Martin Feely, right, was at a camp in Pottersville, N. J., where his wife and two children were preparing to join him for the summer.

Liquor Store Bandit Tangled With Expert Marksman In Battle

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 20.—It was a trigger finger trained in bringing down jumping jackrabbits and skipping coyotes on dusty Texas plains that ended the hard-boiled career of Francis (Pugy) Ryan, hard cold fields holdupman wanted in several states, James Gramentine, special motorcycle policeman in Ben Avon, modestly revealed today.

Gramentine was reluctant to discuss his 70-mile an hour chase that ended when Ryan fell in a hail of bullets, mortally wounded. In addition to a series of depredations through the anthracite region, Ryan was sought for a holdup in Cleveland, O., and was identified as one of the two men who held up a state liquor store in New Castle.

Ryan and a companion leaped from their car when it was wrecked and while the other man fled, Ryan turned to fire a few shots at Gramentine. That was his mistake for all five shots fired by the special policeman struck their target.

Over $395,000 Has Been Paid Veterans Here

New Castle district World War veterans had been paid the grand sum of $395,000 in the 835 "bonus checks" which the post office had mailed out to ex-service men up until the noon hour today.

The $395,000 went out to the veterans who had converted a total of 7,900 of the government's $50 baby bonds into cash during the past week.

More checks were being written this afternoon but the rate at which they were being turned out had slowed down considerably. Four clerks in the office of Superintendent of Mails David B. Thomas handled the certification work today with little trouble and postal officials expressed the opinion that from now on the certification will see a sharp let-up.

Schmeling Gives Secret Of Ring Victory Of Last Night

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 20.—Stretched out in gray pajamas embroidered with black eagles, Max Schmeling today told for the first time the secret of his astounding victory over Joe Louis last night.

It was one of the most dramatic behind-the-scenes stories ever told in the fight game.

Tip From O'Rourke

"My friend, Tom O'Rourke, gave me the tip on how to beat Louis," said Schmeling, peering through his one good eye.

"Then he practically died in my arms just before I went to the ring."

"Up at training camp he kept saying over and over, 'When Louis shoots the left, he always follows it up with another. He always shoots it twice in quick feints. You let him shoot the first one. Then don't wait for the second, just cross your right hand to his chin.'"

"That's what I did. It never failed. He always shot those lefts twice; one, two. I crossed my right between them and he couldn't seem to figure it out."

"Last night, Tom's last words to me were to remember to shoot the right after Louis' first left. Then he suddenly collapsed right into my arms."

"They took him away quick and took him downstairs so I wouldn't know my friend was dead just before the fight. But I knew. I knew when he fell into my arms that my friend Tom was a dead man."

The death of O'Rourke, one of the most famous fight managers in boxing, was the only event to mar the greatest triumph in the German fighter's career.

Schmeling Gets Well Wishes

Schmeling was not allowed to go to sleep until after six o'clock this morning. An army of bibulous well-wishers virtually mobbed him. But his manager, Joe Jacobs, succeeded in clearing them out at about sun-up and Max got in four hours of (Continued On Page Two)

Taft Sees Landon Victory In Fall

(International News Service)
TOPEKA, Kas., June 20.—Governor Alfred M. Landon, G. O. P. presidential nominee, "will win in November by carrying a vigorous fight into the industrial east," Charles P. Taft, youngest son of former President Taft, declared here today.

"That is where the battle will be—in the east," asserted Taft, latest addition to the Kansas governor's campaign staff. "The governor's progressivism will gain him far more states west of the Mississippi river than is generally conceded at the present time."

Taft arrived here late yesterday from his home in Cincinnati. He conferred last night with Governor Landon.

Referring to the Ohio river valley, Taft predicted:

"Ohio will go Republican. Kentucky and Indiana will take a lot of hard work."

Asked which major party he thought the Lemke-O'Brien third party would injure, Taft said:

"The Democratic party—particularly in Ohio. In the first and second Ohio congressional districts which comprise Hamilton county, the Democratic congressional nominees are supporters of Father Coughlin. If Democratic candidates file as Independents, as now expected, Cincinnati will go Republican beyond a doubt."

Parade Will Feature Opening Of Tin Mill Picnic Program Here

Tin Mill Day this year will be the biggest affair of its kind the employees of the tin plants of New Castle have ever sponsored. This fact becomes apparent today when the plans for the picnic on Saturday, June 27, were made public. In size, in quality and in general enjoyment this year's picnic seems certain to far outstrip the picnics of other years.

The day opens at ten o'clock when a mammoth, six division parade gets under way. The parade will form on Hamilton street with the various divisions resting on the side streets. At ten o'clock Marshal Clark H. Buell will give the command and the parade will move out. North on Hamilton to Long, west on Long to Mill, north on Mill to Grove, over Grove to East Washington, west on East Washington to the public square, north on Jefferson past the reviewing stand and disband at Falls street. Lester Clark is the chairman of the parade committee. (Continued On Page Two)

Numerous Controversial Measures Scheduled To Fall By Wayside

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The spendthrift seventy-fourth congress, after shattering all peace-time records for expenditures, approached its constitutional death today embroiled in a series of angry legislative snarls.

A series of filibusters held the Senate in session until after one o'clock this morning, when it recessed until 11 o'clock to resume its legislative bickering. The new $800,000,000 tax bill, the $992,000,000 Treasury-Post Office appropriation bill, the new Copeland ship subsidy bill, the $460,000,000 Wagner housing act and the Guffey coal control bill were involved in the legislative maneuvering.

Administration leaders were determined to adjourn Congress by midnight tonight, after enacting the tax and appropriation bills. All other measures will be abandoned, in order to get the adjournment prior to the opening of the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia.

Renowned for shattering all peacetime records for expenditures, the 74th was going to its death in a blaze of angry recriminations. A series of Senate filibusters were (Continued On Page Two)

They told us that Louis was certain to flatten the man from the Rhine, but the Uhlan tagged Joe with an over-hand blow and laid Louis flat on his spine. Which only proves experts are certain to tell you just what will not be, and again they were wrong, and their views got the gong, the weather is hot, ninety three.

TWELVE CHILDREN DROWN

Picnic Outing Ends In Tragedy

Town In Maine In Mourning Result Of Last Day Of School Disaster

SMALL MOTORBOAT OVERTURNS IN LAKE

(International News Service) LUBEC, Me., June 20.—Twelve children who died together during an end-of-school picnic today were in undertaking parlors, their bodies being prepared for burial together.

This little sardine-packed town was hushed with sorrow as its simple-living residents made preparations for the joint funeral Monday of the victims of the greatest tragedy in the history of Lubec. Services probably will be held in the school which the children left to attend the picnic.

Boat Overtures

Bodies of the children, who ran merrily to the picnic marking the opening of the summer vacation, were returned from Gardner Lake. East Machias, after the small motorboat in which they were riding overturned and tipped them into the icy waters of the lake.

Ashore dozens of parents, teachers and schoolmates watched helplessly as the children struggled in the water. Few were able to swim. Several were helplessly trapped beneath the overturned boat.

Calvin Landon, the crippled boatman, saved himself and two children by clinging to the overturned boat. Teacher Stella M. Burhoe rescued two more children when she discarded her outer clothing and swam to them from shore.

The boat capsized as Landon rounded a peninsula of the lake. "The boat seemed to shoot into the water like a submarine," Landon said.

Democrats Meeting To Elect Officers

John B. Shaw Favored To Win County Chairmanship This Afternoon

At noon today the fight for the chairmanship of the Democratic county committee still was a three-cornered one, all efforts to have one candidate drop out having been unavailing.

The three are John B. Shaw, superintendent of highways, Richard Kissinger, of New Castle, and Grover Stevenson, of Washington township. The indications seemed to favor Mr. Shaw as the likely winner.

The meeting was scheduled to get under way at 2 o'clock with the retiring chairman, Register and Recorder William R. Hanna, presiding. Mr. Hanna was not a candidate for re-election.

Friends of all three candidates have been insisting that they would show enough strength to win, but the claims of Mr. Shaw's adherents of not less than 125 votes on the first ballot seemed to have some foundation. Only 92 votes are needed to win.

Many Floats

Many floats will be in line this year, more than ever before. Cash prizes will be offered for the best floats and the departments of the Shenango and New Castle plants are vying with each other in designing novel floats. One division of the parade will contain the pensioners of the corporation and all pensioners are asked to notify the office that they will be on hand for the parade.

Early in the afternoon the local tin workers will play Farrell plant in a game of softball. A varied sports program which includes swimming, races, and other competitive sports will follow. Each ticket sold carries with it a free ride on one of the concessions of the park.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath will issue a proclamation sometime next week calling upon the citizens of the city to co-operate with the tin workers in celebrating Tin Mill Day, merchants will be asked to display their flags in front of their business houses, and so far as New Castle is concerned, June 27 will be a national holiday.

The public square will be roped off so that spectators can not crowd over the grass and destroy the shrubbery, and an effort will be made to have Washington street clear for the parade. In the reviewing stand will be General Manager David S. Pyle, Vice President D. A. Barrett, General Chairman Davies, and city and county officials. Five bands will be in the parade.

At seven o'clock in the evening the gifts will be distributed at the band stand in Cascade Park. The number one gift is an automobile, then an electric refrigerator, an electric iron, a radio and scores of other gifts. At ten o'clock there will be a grand display of fireworks.

Dancing will be free in the pavilion in the afternoon and the park plan will be in operation in the evening. Harry White, chairman of the sports committee has a list of events a yard long and from noon until midnight there will be something doing in the way of entertainment.

year-old inflationist flung his third party into the presidential race yesterday and immediately drew the emphatic endorsement of Father Charles E. Coughlin, the Detroit radio priest.

In his bid for the presidency, Lemke will have as running-mate Thomas C. O'Brien, of Boston, Democrat, former county prosecutor and prominent labor attorney.

With his announcement, Lemke revealed a 15-point platform on which he will stand. The planks appeal strongly to the farm vote, the followers of Father Coughlin and his national union for social justice, the old age pension group headed by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, and the "share-the-wealth" movement of the late Senator Huey Long.

The Radio Priest, in an address from New York last night announced his support of Lemke.

He lives a fight. A crushing blow makes him come back for more of the same.

Lemke's big aim, he has confided to friends, is to lay the basis for a real third party contest in 1940.

Dear Pa Newsc—

I am always interested in hearing about the bird life in this vicinity. So Wednesday evening Charles M. Black, caretaker of the A. C. Hoyt estate, showed me the nest of a ruby-throated hummingbird located in an elm tree on the Hoyt grounds. The finding of a hummingbird's nest is most unusual as the nest is so small it can be completely hidden by an elm leaf. The bird is the smallest and most exquisite of all the bird clan, young birds are so small that they are fed by regurgitation. The hummer is the only species of the bird clan that can fly backward and forward without changing its wing movement. It has often been reported that the hummingbird has been seen among the flowers at dusk but one will find out that after careful observation that it is a Sphinx Moth, a creature that closely resembles the hummingbird.

There were messages from all parts of the world. Many of them referred to "white supremacy" and "nordic supremacy", but of this Schmeling said:

Some Concern By Democrats

Third Party Movement Is Jolt To Democrats On Eve Of Convention

LEADERS SILENT ON ANNOUNCEMENT

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—Definite projection of a third party ticket into the 1936 presidential race gave Democratic leaders here today a jolt they did not care to discuss publicly.

The business of arranging next week's harmony meeting of the Democratic national convention was sidetracked temporarily as party bigwigs devoted their energies to evolving strategy which would offset the latest threat they regarded as aimed primarily at President Roosevelt's re-election.

Postmaster General James A. Farley had "no comment" to make after Representative William Lemke (R., N. D.), had tossed his hat in the ring and Father Charles E. Coughlin, the radio priest, had pledged over the ether avowed that his National Union for Social Justice would organize in every state behind the North Dakotan, who lists himself a "non-partisan." Earlier, Farley had said: "We are not disturbed by a third party movement."

It was regarded significant, however, that Marvin H. McIntyre, secretary to President Roosevelt, put in an unexpected appearance yesterday afternoon here shortly before Lemke announced his candidacy and Coughlin went on the air with the message he had promised would "startle America."

in school at Springfield, Mass., of which both were natives, was incapable of such a deed.

And her brother, Robert W. Buckley, of Park avenue, New York, who flew here with another brother, Richard, also of New York, asserted his sister was definitely right handed. A right handed person, it was theorized, would most naturally inflict stab wounds on the right side.

But Mrs. Peely suffered wounds on the left side. The brother furthered asserted the Buckley family was "very calm, mentally, not impulsive and even-tempered."

Mother May Have Been Guilty

Four of the city's leading psychiatrists expressed informally similar opinions that hidden mental traits in the mother might have sprung the surface suddenly and impelled her to commit such a deed. The illness of Bobby, who only recently recovered from a severe attack of scarlet fever, was viewed by them as a contributing factor, adding to the mother's nervousness and tension. One suggested the mother may have been suffering from "acute depression"; another said "persecution"; a third suggested "temporary derangement" and the fourth, "melancholia."

Although some investigators said it would have been physically impossible for the woman to have strangled herself by twisting a hammer in a rope tied to right side of her neck, Superintendent of the morgue where he has been employed for the past 40 years, said he had heard of many similar cases in his long service and that he believed Mrs. Peely could have clung to the continually tightening rope until death overtook her.

Would Never Do It

"She was not the kind of a woman to do a thing like this," said the husband, Peely, an assistant physical educational professor at Pitt and director of a noted summer camp conducted by a national magazine at Pottersville, N. J. "I knew her; I lived with her."

"From my years of experience at the morgue, I am convinced that this is suicide and double murder," said Black, the morgue superintendent.

"You've often heard women say if they were going to kill themselves they would want to take with them those nearest and dearest," suggested Sergeant Barton. "If somebody else had done it, there would have been marks of a struggle. There was none."

City Bertillon operator said the fact that the victims were strangled by a noose tied with a square or "sailor's" knot, unusual for a woman to tie, might be explained by Mrs. Peely's camping activities. On camping trips with her husband, he theorized she would learn to tie such knots.

Claims Triple Murder

"Without doubt this is a triple murder," insisted Artz. "Thorough investigation of the premises showed the windows were unlocked. In addition, the position of the body of Mrs. Peely precludes any possibility that she strangled herself and I have reported the case to the coronor as a triple murder."

Police, meanwhile were waiting to ascertain whether a letter may have been mailed by Mrs. Peely to her husband at the Pottersville camp where he was at the time of the slayings. If she did commit the crime, it was believed she may have mailed a farewell note to her husband.

A well-defined man's thumb print found on the death hammer was discounted by police as a clue. They said it was probably that of one of the 40 or more persons, including police, who were on the death scene shortly after the tragedy was discovered.

You can tell a community where the women boss. There are few close friendships between men.

The stage was colorfully decorated with flowers and flags representing each country.

The introduction of each group was cleverly taken care of by Tommy Kersey, as master of ceremonies who presented first on the program the German male chorus singing, "Freiden Legionner" and "Ab-schied Van der Mutter," followed by the women's chorus singing "Die Liesel" and "Ruhe" after which the combined chorus sang "Mutter-segen."

The Polish Falcon Society, in a short play, showed the traditional way by which a young man in Poland secured his bride. The young men of the village dressed in their traditional costumes, some of which were used in Poland for hundreds of years, came asking for the bride. The brides best friend, Stella Cwynar, accepts for the bride after considerable dickerings for the price of the bouquet, the price of which goes to the bride's dowry.

This ceremony completed, the wedding festivities began with singing and dancing which continued for some time after the wedding. The final ceremony, a tradition of many years, consisted of the matron of the village, cutting off the bride's long hair, removing the wedding veil, which signifies her acceptance as a matron and she is given to her husband.

The Montanary Sisters, to the music of the W. P. A. string ensemble, and Spanish casinetts contributed a spectacular Spanish Rhumba.

The Italian group opening with a chorus singing "O Solo Mio" also featuring an accordion solo of Italian songs by Mr. Marzano and followed by a colorful Tarantella dance in costumes characteristic of the Italian people. This was followed by vocal selections offered by Miss Elizabeth Lettier, Miss Kate Maccharelli and Miss Lena Malizia. The chorus closed the Italian program by singing "Santa Lucia."

KUERNER-PEARSALL WEDDING ON JUNE 24

Of interest to New Castleites, is the approaching marriage of the youngest daughter of George Kuerner of 914 W. 10th street, Erie, Pa. Miss Charlotte Kuerner, to Otto Henry Pearsall, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Pearsall of 314 Norwood avenue, this city. The news was recently announced at the bride's home in Erie, and since that time, a number of parties and showers have been given, testifying to the esteem in which the young couple are held.

The marriage will be solemnized in a quiet wedding at noon, Wednesday, June 24, at the Luther Memorial church of Erie, in the presence of the immediate families. Miss Charlotte Melhorn also of Erie, will be the bride's only attendant, and Carl Graham of Darlington will accompany Mr. Pearsall as best man. A wedding breakfast will supplement the ceremony, served at the Shrine club of the lake city, and immediately afterwards, the couple will leave on a wedding trip. Upon their return, they will take up residence at 418 Summer avenue, New Castle.

Among the lovely parties given in honor of the popular bride-elect, was that of last evening, when Miss Charlotte Melhorn entertained in her Erie home at 312 Cascade street, at a buffet supper and miscellaneous shower.

The guest list included close chums of the honored guest, and three of the number were from New Castle, including the groom-to-be's mother, Mrs. L. A. Pearsall, Mrs. Patterson and Dorothy Fitch.

The dining table was especially attractive, with a lace cover and a novel vase adorned the center, flanked at the base by valley lilies and white peonies. Extending from the center of the vase, were white silk ribbons knotted with tiny white rose buds, leading to each guest's place, where cleverly designed cards and individual bouquets of garden flowers were found. These were taken home as mementoes of the delightful occasion. Tall white waxen Cathedral candles at either end, completed the setting.

After the serving of a tempting menu, the hostess presented Miss Kuerner with a collection of attractive packages, and when opened, disclosed an array of lovely gifts for her new home.

Bridge filled in the remaining hours, with a prize being awarded at each table to the one holding top score.

Others who have entertained in her honor at prominent events during the week, includes Phyllis Adams, Ruth Gordon, and Betty Benson, all residents of Erie. Miss Kuerner was graduated from Strong Vincent high school and of Westminster College at New Wilmington in 1935. She is a member of Omicron Nu Gamma sorority. GARDEN ILLUMINATION CONTINUES NEXT WEEK

During the past week, two illuminated gardens have interested the public which was privileged to view them.

Fred L. Rentz' garden on Edison avenue, attracted many hundreds of visitors as it is one of the most picturesque beauty spots in New Castle. It presents a variety of coloring and an ever changing picture throughout the year.

Assembled together are many plants from many states of the union, each presenting a memory of pleasant travels throughout the country. Some of the plantings which right now are putting forth gorgeous blooms, have been gifts in the form of pleasant surprises. The hillside garden is unusually beautiful, a mass of color in blending shades beggar description. At the Weingartner farm on the Butler road, a peony show has been drawn many more hundreds of people. There, the choicest blooms of this popular flower, to be found in this part of the state, are collected.

Both Mr. Rentz and Robert Weingartner are members of the Men's Garden Club, a comparatively new organization in town, but one which already includes many prominent and enthusiastic members.

ANNIVERSARY EVENT AT D. DAVIES HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Davies of Winslow avenue, entertained the Willing Workers Class of the First Congregational church at dinner Thursday evening, June 18, in celebration of their 27th wedding anniversary.

The occasion proved one of the most delightful social functions of the summer season, with Mrs. Davies, hostess, and interested guests numbering twenty-five and upwards, including Mrs. Charles F. Morrow of Wampum, a special participant. At 6:30 o'clock, the hostess served a sumptuous menu at tables beautifully decorated in an array of pastel hues, with a note of silver and white peeping through as the predominating theme. Mrs. Thomas Solomon and Mrs. Clair Aubel aided in serving.

A period of games and contests followed, attractive awards being given to Florie Davies, Mrs. Clifford James, Mrs. Sol Davies, Mrs. Joe Richards, Mrs. Carl Turner, Mrs. Albert Jones and Mrs. Dan Richards.

The evening was climaxed when the guest of honor was presented with a beautiful gift in behalf of the class, this being impressively conducted by their teacher, Mrs. Thomas Gray. Mrs. Davies was also the recipient of a number of other lovely remembrances from her family, in remembrance of the occasion.

Their next assembly will be in the form of a dinner, on Thursday June 25. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. James Davis, chairman, Mrs. Ben Fowler, Margaret Davies, Mrs. Sol Davies, Mrs. Griff Thomas and Mrs. William N. Johns.

Class Picnic.

Lauretta Garver was a very pleasing hostess when she entertained little girls of the True Followers class at Cascade park on the evening of June 16. The time was spent in games and contests, with prizes going to Dorothy Booher and Elsie Shaffer.

The very enjoyable occasion was climaxed by a delicious luncheon served by Mrs. C. Garver, assisted by Mary Shutt and Thelma Gordon, teacher of the class.

WINNING WITH SONG

CAMPAIGN songs, contrary to an impression now regrettably current, are not a necessity. The Democrats in 1928, it is true, had the "Sidewalks of New York," but otherwise both major parties worried along without a song in 1912, 1916, 1920, 1924 and 1928.

Four years ago the Democrats adopted "Happy Days Are Here Again" a proposition as to which there presently is a good deal of argument. Some are happy but others are not so happy as to make the same song entirely available as the Democratic ditty for 1936. Between now and the Democratic convention June 23 there is ample time for the helpfully inventive to work on this problem.

In view of the expected outpouring of wit and humor, our own suggestions are advanced humbly. Our choice of the AAA song would be "Yes, We Have No Bananas," a lyric easily paraphrased to confess we have no potatoes, tomatoes, chickpeas or whatever commodity may be currently the subject of national planning. As a special anthem for General Farley, whose recent strategic reference to the benighted prairie states has won him such acclaim to date, we would suggest that appropriate lament: "Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie-e-e-e."

EXIT THE FLORIDA SHIP CANAL

The Florida ship canal scheme, with as many lives as the proverbial cat, seems to have been killed at last. For even in the modified form approved by the senate the house will have none of it. There was little real to say for this pet project of Mr. Roosevelt, but Representative O'Connor gave the worst possible excuse when he declared that it was "worthy of support by our party because it has been attacked by the other."

All it amounted to was a ditch full of politics into which some millions were poured by Mr. Roosevelt before congress called a halt on his unauthorized spending. A large share of the credit for stopping this unwarranted expenditure must go to Senator Vandenberg. He was not able to prevent his colleagues from adopting a compromise plan to save the president's face, but his arguments have evidently carried weight in the house.

Passamaquoddy is out of the picture, except for the costly debris that remains to be cleared away, and now the Florida canal is ready for the obituary writers.

HUMAN WEATHER GLASSES

Perhaps the meteorologists who have not yet found a sure means of making long-range weather forecasts have been using the wrong equipment. Dr. K. R. Collis Hallowes of London reported at the recent International Congress of Physical Medicine that human barometers should have recognition. There are persons, he says, who are aware "in an uncertain manner" of the electrical changes preceding a thunderstorm; and others who are sensitive to changes in barometric pressure.

One human barometer was a Spaniard in New York who had so accurately measured the sensations felt in a formerly fractured wrist that in five years he never failed in predicting local weather conditions three days ahead.

"We are practically in the dark about the reason why people should know such things in advance," the doctor said. "There are rheumatic subjects who, if they go to the seaside, suffer from aches and pains, while other sufferers from rheumatism will be equally uncomfortable inland."

People who feel weather changes "in their bones" ought to keep charts of their experiences. Data so collected should help either the weather bureau or the doctors. And the sufferers themselves might be mentally benefited by such an interest in the scientific research.

PUBLIC OPINION

Public opinion is a variable quantity difficult to gauge or measure and impossible to analyze with any notable degree of accuracy. The people, like individuals, change their minds. That is their natural prerogative, and they are properly jealous of it. Nothing else is more passionately resisted than an arbitrary attempt to dictate what a nation shall think.

Woodrow Wilson summarized a general resentment when he declared: "I don't want any one sitting behind a mahogany desk playing Providence to me."

Yet dogma rules the earth. Every living man, every woman, even every child has fixed ideas, patterns of thoughts, routines of action which are unamenable to easy governance. They are the unwritten laws of life, produced by human strength or weakness to meet the demands of human needs or desires.

During the next few months the American electorate will be subjected to an unprecedented barrage of argument representing every conceivable point of view concerning public policy and public business. There will be day by day attempts to evaluate the reaction to the campaign. But no observer, however skilled, can be absolutely certain of the result until it has been registered at the polls. And even then public opinion may alter.

The electorate would do well to remember the uncertainties of public opinion and recognize its changing nature. For this tendency to change is significant; it is evidence of that precious thing called liberty, which, with all its faults, is eminently desirable.

Mr. Roosevelt is reported as making a "two-fisted attack" on monopoly. Didn't he like the NRA and the Guffey bill, either?

It is nice to have one member of the family who hungers for praise. He enjoys being the goat if you tell him he is a good one.

In case of unsatisfactory biscuits, the June bride will remember the president's brave words, "If we're wrong we'll try something else."

Secretary Roper says the country is on the threshold of a social frontier. First time anybody ever heard of a frontier with a threshold.

In these days when highway congestion is just about reaching its peak, the warning against making a right turn in the middle of a bridge seems particularly opportune.

The Irak government has offered a waiter who eloped with a princess 25 million drachmas to give her up. Those who have seen her picture say if he accepts the offer he will be liable to life imprisonment on a charge of swindling.

Much For Science.
Can It Aid Government?
Napoleon's Square.
80 Should Be Young.
v ARTHUR BRISBANE

NEWTON D. BAKER, secretary of war in the "big" war, tells graduating students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology it is their duty to "carry science into politics." Scientists, Mr. Baker thought, must seek for "the solution of world problems, when the great international crisis comes, as it surely will come."

A SUFFICIENT "great crisis" seems to be here now, with many countries wanting to fight each other, different classes already fighting each other, and in this—richest country in the world—ten million human beings living practically on charity.

If that is not a real crisis few would care to see one.

MR. BAKER thinks people are attracted by Father Coughlin and Dr. Townsend by a "belief that what they promise ought to be true because they are so enticing in their unscientific aspects."

It would be pleasant if scientists as such, could solve government problems, and dispose of "great crisis." But is there really any reason to think they could do so?

Newton was a great scientist, but it is related that his only contribution to scientific government was limited to a suggestion that a broken window-pane be replaced.

Einstein might, if he chose prove to you that the "square of the hypotenuse" does not exist, and there is no pons asinorum.

But, if you asked him how to solve the money question he would reply:

"How do I know?"

MEN THAT have dealt with great crises and public affairs have not usually been scientists. One who tells you, "I could read and write and cipher to the rule of three, and that was all of my education at the age of 22," dealt with one crisis only. This was Abraham Lincoln.

Oliver Cromwell, no scientist, knew how to rule in a crisis, cutting off a head and then taking charge himself.

BISMARCK was no scientist, but he made Germany an empire and he would have avoided trouble for many Germans if he could have lived forever.

Science calls for scientists, and government in a crisis calls for force of character, decision, common sense and action.

ON HIS expedition to Egypt, Napoleon took along a group of the ablest scientists of his day thinking it would aid to his dignity.

When fighting began he formed a hollow square and ordered "donkeys and scientists in the center," wishing to protect them. The scientists were superior to the donkeys, and also superior to Napoleon, but not for fighting.

SCIENCE DEALS with the abstract, common sense and experience deal with the concrete and practical.

A scientist is said once to have put his watch in boiling water holding an egg in his hand for about three minutes, looking intently at the egg. That absence of mind might indicate a great scientist, but it would not do for a man in charge of government.

THE PERFECT FINISH

We're going home at night and we pass a lighted playground and see two teams playing a game of softball....So we stop to watch—and who wouldn't?

It's a close game and a good one, and the pitchers know their stuff....The score is 5 to 4; the game's going into the last half of the sixth, when up comes a playground director and tells them they'll have to call off the game because it was supposed to be ended by 8:30....Well, the team that's behind demands its rights and gets them.

Up comes the first baseman and fans. (That pitcher is good, with nice change of pace....fast balls, curves, slow balls.) Up comes an outfielder and hits a fly that drops nicely into the right fielder's hands....Then up comes the losing pitcher, a big fellow who pitches with his pipe in his mouth, but hits with his pipe in his hip pocket....He swings at the first one and tips it. Foul ball, one strike....The next one is a slow ball. It's high and does not even cross the plate, drops behind the tall batter's shoulders into the catcher's mitt. But the umpire misjudges it and calls it a strike....Yowls of rage and derision, and the batter is so mad he walks off and starts to sit down. The umpire yells "Get back there!" and he "gets" it. His face is red, his jaw is set. Boy, is HE going to tear the cover off that ball!

So what? The very next ball that comes over the plate he meets with a mighty sock and it flies up, up, up into the night air and clear across the street and into a yard, and our hero goes tearing around the bases for a home run—and saves the game for his side.

Sage philosophical comment: Nine-tenths of the time you lose out when you get mad, but if you're the kind of guy that can sock a home run when you get mad—well, that's DIFFERENT!

SLOT MACHINE ODDS
The Kansas City Times points out editorially that a young bank clerk, with a wife and young daughter at home, possibly will go to prison because he spent $6,500 of the bank's money on slot machines and punch boards to find out that the percentage was against him.

The story came to light because this young man happened to use someone else's money for his gambling. But there are thousands and thousands of others whose stories seldom come to light early, who gamble away the money that should be spent on their families or put away for future use.

The Kansas City newspaper used the story as the reason why there are anti-gambling laws and why they should be enforced.

The gamblers have an "excuse" for lack of enforcement which they believe is sound. No one forced him to spend his money.

The answer in thousands of cases, however, is this: He did play and he lost. He not only lost his money but his self-respect and the respect of his friends. He gambled away not only his money but the right that his family had to a good home.

In an interview of Ellis Island, Tom Mann, the British labor leader, was making fun of a financier under investigation.

"His defense," said Mr. Mann, "reminds me of a chap in the dock." "And so the judge said to him, you broke into the cigar store at night, because you're a great cigar smoker and you simply had to have a tuppenny cigar."

"Yes, your honor."

"I see, but why were you tampering with the safe?"

"Well, you see, I was putting my tuppence in."

Business Improvement Good.
Railroads Are Benefitting.
Other Countries Beat U. S.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT has been great. Business leaders do not question that for one moment.

The real question is, "How long will it last?"

Many economists answer, "as long as the inflationary process lasts."

Then the question is, "How long will that be?"

And the answer is, "Who can tell?"

Well, what is the "inflationary process?"

Borrowing and spending bonuses and credit expansion.

Suppose we should not have that? There would be sharp contraction.

Whereupon, the average citizen asks, "Is there NO solution?"

And the average economist shrugs his shoulders and remarks, "Yes—widespread distribution of the profits of production, etc."

That is one reason why business remains hesitant in the face of remarkable earnings. Business knows it will pay in the end. Cautious administrators do not look upon present net earnings as likely to stay in company treasuries.

RAILS LEAP FORWARD
The railroads finally are sharing in the general upturn. Their business is the best since 1931.

But the burden of the rails is much heavier than in 1931.

And many of them are over-capitalized.

DIVIDENDS
"Total dividend payments will increase in 1936 for the third consecutive year," says the Alexander Hamilton Institute.

"Dividends should show a gain of nearly 12 per cent over 1935 and 40 per cent over the depression's low."

And "income from production so far this year indicates a further increase in dividend payments in 1937."

RECOVERY
Here are some surprising statements from the Alexander Hamilton Institute:

"Only five countries have experienced a greater industrial recovery from the low of the depression than the United States. The United States, however, is further away from all recovery than all countries."

Notable Nativities—Helen Gould Shepard, b. 1868, philanthropist... Raymond L. Dimars, b. 1876, newspaper reporter whose hobby led him to become an international authority on snakes... Peter Lorre, b. 1903, cinemator.

Today's Yesterdays—June 20, 1782, Congress adopted the Great Seal of the United States, from a design by William Barton of Philadelphia.

Benjamin Franklin, father of illegitimate children, fought the acceptance of the Seal with its eagle design, because of the bad moral character of the bird. He first wanted the design to show Moses drowning Pharaoh in the Red Sea, and then favored using the turkey. The eagle was suggested by Charles Thomson, a native of Ireland, who was representing Pennsylvania in Congress.

June 20, 1861—Lillian Leonard was born in Clinton, Ia., daughter of a pioneer advocate of women's rights.

Cynthia Leonard, and a publisher. As Lillian Russell she became the most famous entertainer of her day, married four times, had one child, smoked cigars and owned a diamond-studded bicycle.

June 20, 1867—Russia ceded Alaska to the U. S. for $7,200,000.

Bering, a Dane in the employ of Russians, worked eight years in crossing Siberia with material for ships. Then having built them and sailed across the sea which now bears his name, he sighted land (Mt. St. Elias) and discovered Alaska. He was by then an old man and so burned out by previous explorations that when officers tried to congratulate him, he said, "A great discovery, no doubt, and the accomplishment of all our desires; but who knows where we are, when we shall see Russia again, and what we shall eat in the meantime?"

Notable Nativities—Daniel Carter Beard, b. 1850, father of the Boy Scouts of America... Sir Josiah Stamp, b. 1880, British economist... Dr. Arnold Gesell, b. 1880, director of Yale's famed clinic of child development.

June 21—The summer solstice is the longest day of the year because the sun is at the northernmost part of its annual path across the sky. The surface of the earth does not receive the most heat from the sun on this day because the sun is above the horizon longer, and its greater height in the sky causes a concentration of its light and heat over a smaller area.

"Father's Day," which owes its significance to promotion by clothing manufacturers groups, as "mother's day" is commercialized by florists, is patented! That is, the date is registered in the Patent Office. It was initiated in 1910 by Mrs. John B. Dodd of Spokane, Wash., to honor her own father. Congress has twice declined to give it an official designation as a holiday.

June 21—Among state histories: 1788—Constitution of the U. S. was brought into being by the ratification.

tries, with the exception of four. This is accounted for by the severity of the depression in the United States.

Only Poland and Germany suffered greater depression than the United States.

"Eleven countries now have recovered more than the ground lost during the depression while six other countries are nearer full recovery than the United States."

SOVIET LEADS
Which countries lead in the manufacturing index?

Here is what the Alexander Hamilton Institute says:

"The manufacturing index of the United States, on the basis of 1929 as 100, was exceeded in 1935 by the indexes in 18 countries. Only four countries had indexes lower than that of the United States."

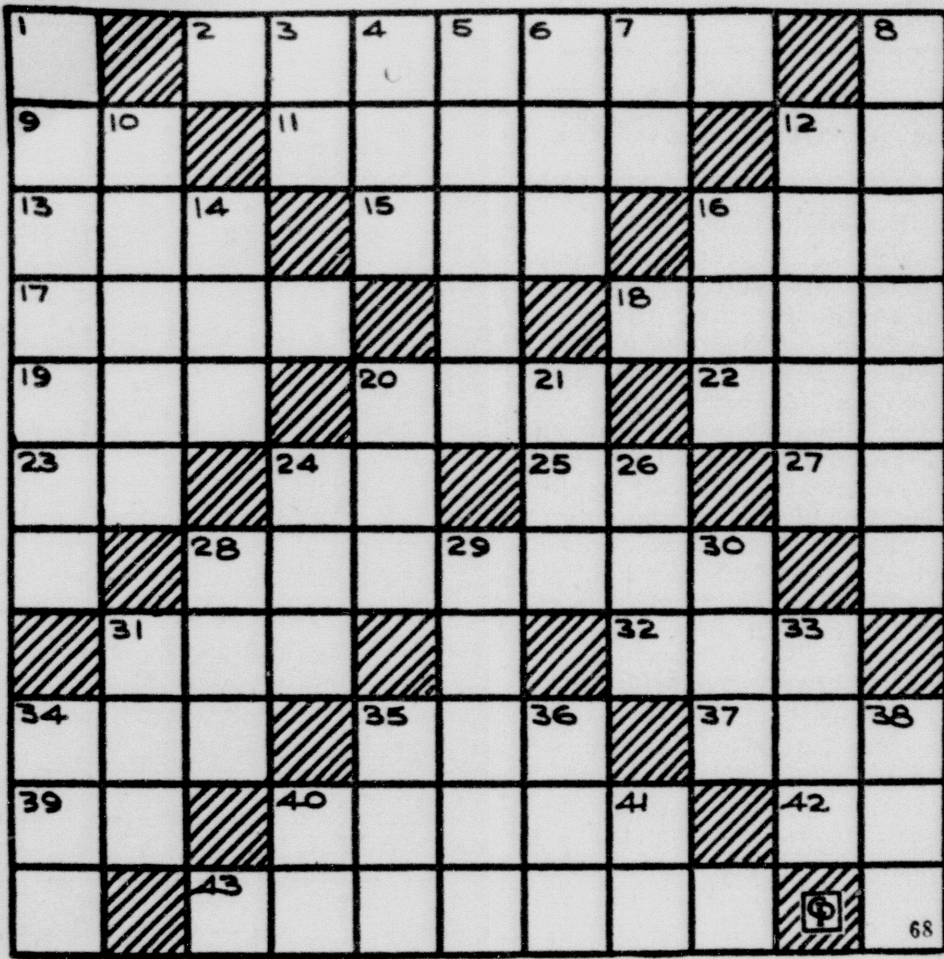

"The United States' index in 1935 was 75.6. The indexes of the countries which had higher indexes were as follows: Russia 291.4, Japan 141.8, Greece 140.9, Poland 125.0, Denmark 121.0, Chile 120.1, Rumania 120, Hungary 110.9, Sweden 107.5, Estonia 106.4, Great Britain 105.7, Norway 105.1, Germany 94.0, Italy 92.1, Spain 86.9, Canada 81.3, Belgium 80.6, and Austria 79.6."

"The four countries which had lower indexes than the United States in 1935 were: Czechoslovakia 69.9, France 67.4, Poland 66.4 and the Netherlands 66.3."

WORLD PARALYSIS
It will be seen that the greatest trading countries, with the exception of Great Britain, have suffered the most. Currency and trade barriers have curtailed trade for them. They still are far from agreement on mediums of exchange. Their peoples have become strongly nationalistic.

France, once mighty trading nation, is in a dangerous way. Germany already has disappeared from among the buyers. Italy, too, has gone. Disintegration such as this affects every person in the United States, as well as in Europe.

Per Capita Debt Here Is Lower

(Special To The News)
NEW YORK, June 20.—With a per capita bonded debt of only $58.49, New Castle stands in a healthier financial position than the majority of cities in the 30,000 to $60,000 population class, whose debts averaged $69.15 per resident at the beginning of this year, the National Municipal Review points out in a special survey of 283 cities in the United States and Canada. New Castle's net bonded debt on January 1, exclusive of self-supporting items, was $2,846,966.
With the national bonded debt of the cities, based on the survey, coming to $123.50 per capita, five out of every eight cities reflected a downward trend in debt in the past year, indicating, in the opinion of the report, "substantial recuperation."

Blue and white is a cool combination in a print for early summer. Brightly colored flowers, gloves, belt or hat trimmings give them the necessary "third degree" or shade, that is so fashionable this year.

HIGHLAND HEIGHTS EVENING WEDDING

In the home of Mrs. Myrtle Adams of Highland Heights Thursday evening, June 18, the wedding of her daughter, Doris Isabelle, to Avery Rigby, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Rigby of Pearson street, took place before a group of 50 friends and relatives.

The Rev. J. H. Boon, pastor of Christian Missionary Alliance, performed the ceremony in a pretty summery setting. The bride, dressed in a simple frock of white chiffon, was attended by her sister, Nellie Adams, who wore pink chiffon. A corsage of roses added color to the bride's costume and a corsage of orchids to the bridesmaid's, George Rigby, a brother of the groom, was best man.

For the wedding supper, which was served afterwards, decorations were carried out in garden flowers. The young couple dispensed with a trip and will make their home for the present with the groom's parents on Pearson street.

Hoon-Dale Wedding Friday

Another of the pretty home June weddings was that which took place Friday morning at 11:30 o'clock at 33 South Jefferson street, when Bertha V. Hoon became the bride of Harry L. Dale of North Beaver street. The impressive ring ceremony was used, with the Rev. Agnes E. Guthrie, pastor of the Spiritualist Church of Truth, officiating, in the presence of the immediate families and friends of the couple.

The vows were exchanged in the midst of a beautiful setting of flowers, ferns, palms, intermingled with clusters of orange blossoms, carnations and roses.

The bride, who was attired in a smart blue print with white accompaniments, wore a shoulder bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies. Attendants were Miss Helen Hoon, who wore blue organza with a shoulder bouquet of tea roses, and Mrs. Harry C. Hoon, who chose white organza and a shoulder corsage of American Beauty roses. Chris Ungar and Harry C. Hoon served the groom.

Immediately afterwards a wedding dinner of beautiful appointments was served in the dining room, the table being attractively arranged with nuptial suggestions predominating.

Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Dale departed on an extended wedding trip to Cleveland, O., Buffalo, N. Y., and other places of interest. Upon their return they will take up temporary residence at 33 South Jefferson street.

See Some Delay In Starting Airport

"We are ready to start any time," said Captain Butler. "If the city will make the notification we will put men to work immediately."

Plan Braddock And Schmeling Battle In Fall

Believe Negotiations For Championship Fight Are Nearly Concluded

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 20.—Promoter Mike Jacobs of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club today paid off with one hand everybody connected with last night's Max Schmeling-Joe Louis bout, and with the other started negotiations for a James J. Braddock-Schmeling heavyweight title match in the fall.

The pay-off was not a great pleasure, considering the last night's thrill-soaked opening boxing show of the outdoor season fell about a quarter of a million dollars below Promoter Jacobs' expectations, but he believes he will break even — "and maybe make a few dollars."

Plans for the title fight officially have been half-completed and unofficially have advanced farther than that. Schmeling has been signed and the opinion prevails that Jacobs also has Braddock's signature on a contract for his first defense.

Braddock also was signed with Madison Square Garden, but the boxing commission announced recently that the champion would be permitted to meet only the winner of last night's fight, and that seemed to throw the match in Jacob's lap, with some kind of compromise between him and the Garden in prospect.

Schmeling this afternoon was guest of honor at a luncheon tendered the boxing writers by Promoter Jacobs.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Say Republicans Are Now Gaining

Farley Makes Serious Blunders In Publicity Concerning Democratic Party

HELD LIABILITY TO PARTY IN WEST

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, June 20.—Ever since about the middle of the Cleveland convention the Republican party has been gaining steadily in strength.

Correspondingly the Democrats have been losing.

It still is too soon to say that the Republicans have gained enough to have a bright prospect of winning next November or that the Democrats have lost enough to be in serious danger of defeat at the polls.

However, Republican gains and Democratic losses can't go on much longer at their present respective rates without beginning to give at least a 50-50 look to the coming election.

HAMILTON ENERGETIC
Republican strategy and publicity are recognized by Republicans themselves as having been perfectly terrible under Henry P. Fletcher's chairmanship of the G. O. P. national committee.

If John D. Hamilton, Fletcher's successor, can keep up the lick with which he has started he promises to be a wonder as campaign manager for Governor Landon.

On the opposite hand, Democratic publicity, as directed by Chairman

James A. Farley, who has been supposed to be super-astute, appears to have gone completely haywire within the last two or three weeks.

A BAD BREAK

Farley's reference to Landon as a nonentity from a "typical prairie state" was the Democrats' first conspicuous bad break.

The speech in which the postmaster general indulged in this slur at the west was written by Charles Michelson. Now, Charles Michelson is a good "smearer", but Governor Landon obviously isn't easily smeared. Also Farley, while a capable newspaperman, is unacquainted with the west.

Well, he wrote the "typical prairie state" speech.

Farley, as dyed-in-the-wool of a Manhattan Islander as Michelson, but a little more conscious of his provincialism than Charles, submitted the thing to Presidential Private Secretary Stephen Early, who knows his stuff. Early promptly edited the contemptuous western references out of the speech. Mutilated as it was by Early, Farley didn't know exactly how to deliver it and re-submitted it to Michelson. Charles thereupon flew into a rage and edited the excised lines back in.

MICHELSON'S WORDS

Farley spoke as per Michelson. Thereupon Steve Early called the postmaster general on the long-distance phone and reproached him bitterly. They say he spoke of him as "bald-headed" and that he used other uncomplimentary terms, which wouldn't look well in print.

Farley, returning to Washington, tried to make his peace with Early, but couldn't do it.

There is a rift in the Democratic lute a foot wide.

A BLOW AT FARLEY

Then Farley issued his statement following the Republican convention, poking further fun at Landon as of no consequence, and at the Republican platform as something he did not understand.

Which left him open to Chairman Hamilton's counter statement that there probably were other paragraphs in the G. O. P. statement that he probably did not understand—as "private honor" and "public credit".

Even pro-New Deal publications recognize that, in this answer, their campaign management got a sounding sock on the jaw.

FARLEY A LIABILITY

It is clear that Farley is "done" as a Democratic propagandist in the west.

But the Democratic organization doesn't know it apparently.

Or maybe he can't conveniently be unloaded.

It would, indeed, be embarrassing to change Democratic chairmanships now.

Nevertheless, Farley is a liability the New Deal has hung onto too long.

On Court House Hill

County commissioners have Bert Dinsmore employed making repairs to the Court Station bridge. Some of the planks were in bad shape and other repairs were needed.

The near approach of July 1st, when the bass season comes in, has increased the sale of fishing licenses at the county treasurer's office. It is expected that there will be quite a rush for licenses next week.

With 7,150 dog licenses issued in Lawrence county this year, all previous records have been broken. And the license applicants are still coming in. Thirteen licenses were issued yesterday and seven the day before. Around 6,500 licenses have been the highest number issued in previous years. It is believed that the activities of John A. Mateer of Kittanning, dog law enforcer for this district, has had considerable to do with the increase in license applications. Mateer has made a number of arrests of persons who have failed to take out dog licenses.

District Attorney Mont L. Ailey and wife and Attorney Clarence Patterson and wife are planning to attend the annual meeting of the State Bar association, which will be held at Bedford Springs next week. It is likely that some other local attorneys will attend, but they have not yet announced their intentions.

There appears to be quite a lot of murderers running around loose, according to the letters and descriptions of alleged murderers received at the office of Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard. There are now eight photographs and descriptions of persons wanted for murder posted in the rogues gallery. There are also quite a number who are wanted for highway robbery and other crimes.

County commissioners were informed by state highway officials yesterday that they have given up the project of improving the New Galilee road, from a point near Moravia to New Galilee. No explanation has yet been received as to the reason. This was one of the roads which the Highway Department was insisting on having improved. As a result the county commissioners have spent considerable time in securing releases from property owners along the right-of-way. Beaver county has been similarly interested in that portion of the road from the Beaver-Lawrence county line into New Galilee.

While money is coming into the county treasurer's office in sufficient amount to meet current expenses at present, it is doubtful if there will be sufficient paid in to meet bond maturities which will fall due in July. Instead of borrowing one way to meet the situation would be to refund the amounts due with new bonds. It is believed that the county would be able to secure money on bonds at from two and one-half to two and three-fourths per cent, which would be lower than it could be secured on straight loans.

Local attorneys are interested in efforts now being made to speed up the printing and distribution of acts passed by the legislature. At present it is sometimes five or six months before these acts are printed and ready for distribution. It is believed that these acts should be printed within a few days after being passed, and there seems to be no good reason advanced for the delays. One of the recommendations of a committee appointed to study the situation is that the printing of the laws be let out by contract, with a provision that the contractors give bond to make delivery within a definite time. It would certainly help some to know what the law is before it sprouts whiskers.

Will of the late Samuel S. Miller of Wilmington township has been probated at the register and recorder's office. MAX SCHMELING KNOCKS OUT JOE LOUIS

Schmeling Makes Ring History By Knocking Out Joe

Schmeling Takes All Louis Has To Offer Then Comes On To Win

END COMES IN TWELFTH ROUND

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 20.—There lay Joe Louis in an abject heap in the twelfth round last night, his cold agate of an eye grown surprisingly softened and docile and a little pitiful, like that of a brown setter which had been beaten beyond all natural dignity. He blinked stupidly and with patient resignation, but thousands of pseudo Uncle Toms have done it better and with more moving effect. He did not glance up and, I think, would have done so unwillingly.

Up there, as a matter of fact, was the white master Max Schmeling, who would beat him down again if he mustered the will to rise. So, in the midst of the wildest scenes the New York prize ring had witnessed since the profound insanity of the Dempsey-Firpo brawl, the count went on up to ten and the place was a world gone mad.

Schmeling Seeks Braddock Still Louis, the supposed superman, lay in the safe comfort of his queer little heap, while his amazed corner goggled and gaped.

He might even be there yet for all of Schmeling, concerned now with a managerial conference this morning over the details of a title meeting with champion Braddock in September, and for the white men around here who found it fashionable to bow the head and kneel, the beaten man might stay there forever.

This brown God had crumbled before their eyes and his substance was dress and alloy and clay. There will be those today who will hail this all but incredible knockout of Louis in 2:29 of the twelfth round as the avenging of the Reno incident away back in 1910 at the Jeffries-Johnson fight. But this can hardly be so.

Myth Explodes Louis, the flawless fighter, was a myth, a delusion and a legend that never happened, but the white race, more than his own, made him so. The most the blacks ever did was to gather about like the ensemble in "The Green Pastures" and shout an occasional "Hallelujah!" It remained for the white brethren to concede the black a degree of greatness that, in reality, he possessed—up to but not including the point where the white master asserted himself.

It was then that Joe Louis, him they called the Brown Bomber, the Black Avenger and kindred inanities, reverted to type and became again the boy who had been born in an Alabama cabin. Spiritually, he never was the same after he had been knocked down with a right cross in the fourth round.

Right To Face The End, in the twelfth, was sudden but complete. One right hander on the chin drove him into the ropes; three more knocked him down and there he stayed until the end, shaking his head in a puzzled way as though confronted with something that he felt he should not be expected to handle.

He was hurt—oh, yes; no end—for at least twice before his legs had drooled on the way to the corner and he had been lashing out aimlessly with punches that would have disgraced a pool room. But the real hurt was to his sense of superiority, built up through a great string of knockouts that were climaxed by the snuffing out of Carnera, Levinsky, Baer and Paulino within the last twelve months. I should say, as a matter of fact, that Schmeling took the crueler punishment last night, terrific punches to the body and some to the groin. He was back-handed and back-elbowed and, long before the end, his left eye was a repulsive slit that looked like something from an operating room.

Schmeling Better Man He was, in much fewer words, the better man, inside and out. He took the dreaded Louis punch and came on again and again. He exploded the Louis delusion of invulnerability by always dropping his favorite right punch in over Louis' left and nearly always with more devastating effect.

He did, in fact, about everything there was to be done in order to bring about an upset so tremendous that it rocked the world from the Gowanus to the Golden Gate and to a continental Europe and far-off Tokyo. The Tunney-Dempsey turn-over of ten years ago was pale and insipid by contrast. Braddock was 10-1 last year when he out-fumbled Baer for the championship, but at least James J. could claim the one.

Last night there was no price on Schmeling's chances. One bookmaker took a small commission of $500 from the coast at 6-1 and 7-1 but the rest wouldn't take a bet on a straight Louis victory and, as for Schmeling, there wasn't even any Germany sympathy money on him.

Crowd Was 40,000 The writer raised a still, small voice, crying out that Schmeling had a chance. But the public didn't believe it and proved this by turning out slightly less than 40,000 paid admissions for a gross of something under $500,000. Part of this was due to Thursday's postponement and yesterday's threatening weather. But, if they knew then what they know now, they would have been there in outboard motorboats.

One, of course, was privileged to surmise, as I did, that Schmeling would score with that right hand of his over Louis' pawing fists. But who could even suspect that Schmeling would take the pot shots of the man, who had been hailed as the greatest hitter of all history, without going? More, that he wouldn't even stagger?

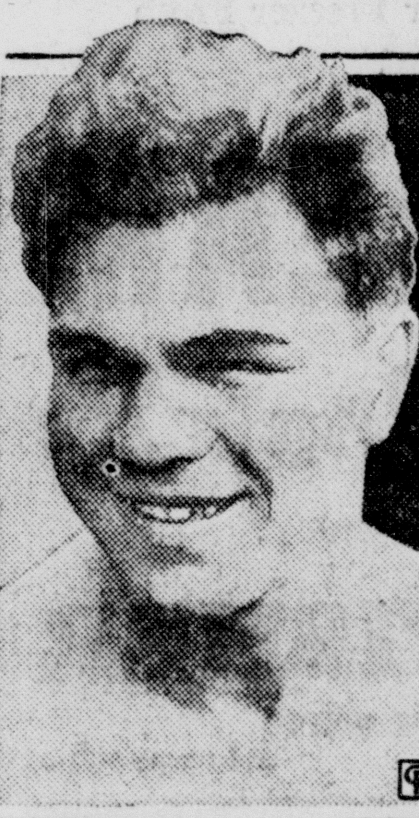

Both Took Beating There were times in the middle of the fight when the German was hurt, notably with body punches and even sometimes with stiff left jabs. But he was excellently paced by Eddie Case and Joe Jacobs in his corner and he always knew what he was about, which is more than can be said for Louis.

Why, when the "superman" shot over a left, he almost invariably followed it with his head. Yes, actually the man led with his face. It was like pitching to Ruth from fifteen feet.

Schmeling got his eye closed taking those lefts in the face, but the damage was earned in a good cause. He wasn't trying to avoid those lefts too much; in fact, he was inviting them. The target furnished by the lunging head and body was too big to miss.

BOX FACTORY GIVEN GAME Owing to a dispute occurring at the B. & O. field last night the umpire, Joe Aiello, awarded the city softball league game to the Box Factory over the Knights of St. Vitus.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

MAX SCHMELING

Us & company, which means of course the million or more who picked Mr. Max Schmeling for pugilistic oblivion today are doffing our hats to the courageous German who made pugilistic history by knocking out the highly touted Joe Louis in the twelfth round at New York last night.

And today such chaps as Jimmie Dime, George Chip, Ed. Fritz, Tom McMahon (why name 'em all) are trying to figure out what happened last night in New York. Insofar as our figuring is concerned we may as well toss the chalk away—Schmeling won and that's all there is to it.

Yes sir, folk we're ready to say (Ed. Fritz writing) that we were wrong and surprised so much that we plan to leave town today and go to the country where we can loll in the grass, look a tree in the face and say: "Well what do we know about fighting anyway?"

After a man spends 30 years watching fighters and then has a young son come along and say: "Say Dad, Max Schmeling is going to win tonight and I have 50 cents on him" what is one going to do? Is he going to hand over the job of picking fighters to son or keep guessing?

Oh, well, its all over now. The writer was wrong—in fact he picked Louis to win in the fourth round. It was in that section that the plucky German hit Joe on the chin and all the lights went out in Detroit. Later they went out in Harlem for all night.

Yes sir, folk when a man matches fighters, judges 'em and then lets his son outguess him, it is time for him to go to the country for a week. Oh, well, most of us & company were wrong last night—congratulations to Max.

JUNIOR CHAMBER HOLDS ITS GOLF TOURNEY MONDAY

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce made final preparations today for their first golf tournament at the Castle Hills course on Monday, June 22. The tee off, it is announced, will take place at 4:30 p. m.

The tournament, under the direction of Arthur Alexander and Alfred H. Owens, marks the first recreational meeting of the junior chamber organization this summer. Friends of the members will participate in Monday's matches. During each of the vacation months of June, July and August the membership is to convene for one business meeting and one recreational get-together.

But the most annoying bragart is the one who tries to seem modest when he hasn't anything to be modest about.

Golfing Events On Local Links

Joe Louis Says Maxie Can Punch Nor Hands

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 20.—The green curtain parted and through it stumbled Joe Louis. But not the Joe Louis you've grown to know. Not the Joe Louis of the icy dead pan and the fish-cold eyes.

Oh, no, this was a new Joe Louis. A grotesque caricature of the real thing—this tottering creature who would have fallen on his face but for the supporting arms of his manager Julian Black and his trainer, Jack Blackburn.

Face Swollen This Joe Louis had one side of his face swollen as if it had been caressed with a baseball bat. The left eye half closed by the iron fist of Max Schmeling. The lips puffed and bruised. The cheek bone welled where it showed through the soggy towel about his head.

He was carried to a rubbing table where Dr. William Walker pried open Joe's eyes to examine them. Felt his jaw bone to assure Joe the bones were not broken. Examined both hands for the verdict: "Swollen and sore, as is natural, but not broken."

No Allibis Therefore, no allibis were possible. Blackburn went to work on the pitifully swollen face with a piece of ice and the writer—the only newspaper man permitted in the room until Joe should recover—started to ask him questions.

But he was still too dazed to answer. He didn't seem to get the significance of the words. He kept mumbling "No?"

Got Careless After a while he opened his one good eye and attempted a smile. A wry smile.

"I just got careless and he tagged me with an overhand right," he explained. "After that I didn't know nothing. Didn't know what I was doing half the time."

He meant, of course, the punch that floored him in the fourth round?

"No, I don't know anything about that one. The one that hurt was that one in the second round. Sure shook me up. Most of the time my legs was like rubber and my arms was like lead."

"Can he hit? Sure can. I'll say he can. He's a mighty good fighter. Much better than I thought he would be. He looked pretty easy in the first round."

Maxie Is Happy Out from the showers came Max. His left eye closed and discolored. He explained it: "Louis put his thumb in my eye all the time. Then he circled to the left. It was hard for me to see him. I had to turn like this—" illustrating with a swirl of his head.

"He didn't really hurt me. After I staggered him the first time and after I took some of his punches I knew I would knock him out. I'm the happiest man in the world—for myself—for my wife—for my country. I expect to beat Braddock and win back my title—he chuckled—and I am glad I won this fight and not on the floor. And I am glad I fool all you experts, heh?"

Each Fighter To Receive $139,483

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 20. — Max Schmeling and Joe Louis will each receive a check for $139,483 for their activity in the Yankee Stadium ring last night. The financial figures on the great fight upset follow:

Paid attendance: 39,878.
Gross receipts: $547,531.
Net receipts: $464,945.
Schmeling's share (30 per cent) $139,483.
Louis' share (30 per cent) $139,483.
Federal tax (10 per cent) $54,753.
State tax (5 per cent) $20,139.
Milk fund (10 per cent) after state and federal taxes deducted, $39,005.

and Bell Phones will clash, while the New Castle Dry boys will swing masher-niblicks with the Universals. There will be a meeting of the team captains at Castle Hills following the matches Monday night.

Legion of Honor golfers will play their weekly match at the Sylvan Heights course Monday evening, when a large crowd is expected to attend. The handicap events will be started in the near future, so they can be completed before the season wanes, and for this reason the committee expects a large crowd out Monday evening.

Riots Occur As Joe Louis Loses

Harlem Is Like Madhouse As Brown Bomber Favorite Loses

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 20.—Despite an extraordinary police guard, riots flared in Harlem early today as Negroes, stunned by Joe Louis' knockout defeat at the hands of Max Schmeling, assaulted whites in the section and fought among themselves.

One Negro was shot and two were stabbed in the Harlem disorders. White men were beaten and chased by Negro mobs and numerous autos and busses carrying white passengers were stoned.

Throughout the night more than 700 patrolmen and detectives patrolled the area, walking in pairs. In several restaurants and bars, sporadic fighting broke out as disgruntled Negroes attempted to tear Louis' picture from the walls.

There was considerable rejoicing over Schmeling's victory in Yorkville, the German section of the city, but Yorkville was quiet in comparison to the dizzy whirl that was Harlem.

Veteran Fight Promoter Dies

Tom O'Rourke Collapses In Schmeling's Dressing Room And Dies

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 20.—Tom O'Rourke died as he might have wished, within earshot of 50,000 wildly yelling boxing fans.

The 85-year-old veteran of more than a half century as handler, promoter and official along the pugilistic front, succumbed to a heart attack in Max Schmeling's dressing room at Yankee Stadium last night shortly after telling the German he was a cinch to beat Joe Louis.

When he swooned, Schmeling called for help and he was carried beyond the curtains setting off Schmeling's quarters. Within 20 minutes he was dead.

Schmeling asked about him just before he left for the ring and was told that his last well-wisher was all right.

At that very moment a priest was administering last rites.

Schmeling did not learn of the death until after the fight.

Erect Boxing Ring Monday

Police Secure Loan Of Ellwood Social Club's Ring For Friday

INTEREST JUMPS AS DAY DRAWS NEAR

The ring that will be used by 20 fighters in the police boxing show next Friday night was hauled to Taggart stadium today and early Monday morning carpenters and electricians will start erecting the ring and lighting system. The ring was loaned to the city police by the Shelby Social club of Ellwood City. It is one of the best rings in this section.

The ring will be pitched in front of Section 4 and 4-B and will be so brightly illuminated that the participants every move may be seen. The large floodlights will also be trained on the ring and all classes in boxing, from bantamweight to heavyweight, may be represented.

As the day of the amateur bouts, sanctioned by the State Athletic Commission and the Amateur Athletic Union draws nearer, the people of the city are preparing to attend the event. Groups of as high as 50 have secured blocks of tickets and many other parties, including women, have also secured reserve pastebords.

When the show was conducted there last summer it proved one of the outstanding sport events of the summer. The stadium and ring were illuminated and despite a rain that preceded the scraps, the evening turned out nice and when the fistic proclivities were over, everybody had had a pleasant evening's event.

Sheriff Eddie Pritchard today stated that his deputies and he would join with the city state and highway patrolmen in helping to handle the crowd. All of the railroad police already had offered their services. With Ed. Fritz in charge of the supervision of the show the Fraternal Order of Police will no doubt click properly.

The summary:

Boosters 310 320 210—12 10 3
Catholics 201 121 043—14 16 2

Batteries: Boosters—Wilson, Leonelli and Jones. Catholics—Santangelo, Amobile and Tererri.

Schmeling Is Very Happy

Maxie Somewhat Disgusted By Closed Eye, Wants Braddock Next

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 20.—Max Schmeling held aloft his right fist and laughed his throaty German laugh while he peered from his one good eye and photographers' flash bulbs popped around him in a crazy staccato.

With that right hand he had just pounded Joe Louis, the so-called super-fighter, into a sprawling, limp-legged rag doll.

He says James J. Braddock will be next. For the first time in history a former heavyweight champion will come back. Jeffries couldn't, Dempsey couldn't, but Schmeling says he will.

On Way Back A veteran of 12 years of pugilistic wear and tear, declared through when Max Baer flattened him, Schmeling has come back at least half way toward the title he lost to Jack Sharkey, and he is confident that the last stage of the journey will be even smoother than the first, which was those 12 rounds with Louis last night.

He doesn't see how he can miss against Braddock.

The Black Ullian, his jaws almost literally black from a day's growth of whiskers, not only believes he will knock Braddock out, but in his own mind has spiked the presumption that Louis was off form last night, and he is confident he could stop the negro in half the distance he required if he could retain his eyesight long enough.

Justified about by the mob which always trickles into the winner's dressing room, Schmeling stood it all good-naturedly, but made no secret of his irritation over his tightly closed, knotted and discolored left eye.

Heffner Known As Rough Matman

Was Taught His Knowledge Of Wrestling By Brother In Texas

MEETS WYKOFF IN FEATURE CONTEST

Fans who like to have their wrestling served rare may see some of the roughest of wrestling when Dutch Heffner who has no mean reputation as a rough-house gent of the mat, meets Lee Wykoff, of Kansas City, in the feature bout of the wrestling show Monday night at Centennial field.

Heffner comes from a family of wrestlers, all reared in Texas and it was his brother, Jimmie, who taught him his knowledge of holds, counters and other ring maneuvers which the fans will see when he takes on Wykoff who hails from Kansas. Both weigh over 220 pounds. The bout is carded for the best of three falls or 90 minutes duration.

However, Heffner and Wykoff are not the only mat peddlers who will try flying mares, airplane spins and drop kicks. Indeed, no, according to Promoter Pete Askounes, who has had his matchmaker, Bill Lion, match Bake Podolak, 190, Tampa, against Gorilla Grubmeyer, 182, Chicago.

Grubmeyer is one of the newer wrestlers now trying to occupy the place that Earl Caddock, Joe Stecher, Strangler Lewis, Jim Lewis, Denno O'Mahoney, Dick Shikat and Ali Baba gained. He is up against a tricky tough babe in Podolak, according to the promoter, while King Kong, 220, of Cincinnati, is expected to show some new wrestling stunts when he tackles Max Martin, 225, Detroit, in another match.

Where these six wrestlers placed on the scales they would show a combined weight of 1,286. For this reason the ring which was built to-day was reinforced to stand plenty of rough tumbling. The show Monday starts at 8:30 p. m. at Centennial field.

Dean Wins His Thirteenth As Giants Fold Up

Dean Masters Giants 7 To 5, Yankees Upset Tigers 5 To 2

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 20.—Dizzy Dean apparently is headed for another season of 30 victories. The great right-hander chalked up his 13th success of the season at the Polo grounds by a score of 7-5.

Dizzy's control was none too good and the Giants reached him for a few healthy wallops, but he bore down effectively in the pinches. Home runs by Joe Medwick and Stuart Martin decided the issue in favor of the Cards.

In the only other National league game of the day, the Cincinnati Reds took an 8 to 4 decision from the Boston Bees. Three home runs helped the Reds to win as Hallahan and Schott outpitched Lanning, Chaplin and Blanche.

The Cleveland Indians snapped a three-game losing streak at the expense of the Washington Senators, winning by 9 to 6 with a three-run rally in the last two innings.

A single by Mule Haas in the 13th inning broke up a pitching duel between Vernon Kennedy and Bill Dietrich and gave the White Sox a 5 to 4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Sixth Ward Firemen are anxious and waiting for the invasion of the Ryantown baseball team Sunday afternoon at Lee Avenue field at 3 o'clock. The third game of the current five-game series finds the Sixth Ward Firemen two up, in the parlance of golf.

The Ryantown boys with Joe Samuels at the helm will go to the West Side field tomorrow afternoon with grim determination to put an end to this Firemen "jinx". Two straight games have gone to the Fire-Extinguishers.

Thornton To Pitch
Manager Joe Ziegler will summon his star curveballer ace "Shorty" Thornton to do the heaving for the Firemen, and he will probably be opposed by either Strausbaugh or Wilson.

In event of good weather tomorrow the biggest crowd of the year will no doubt watch the two West Side teams in action for the third time this year.

Last night in warm-up game the Firemen defeated the North Hill Colonials 8 to 4 at the North Hill field. Withtherow did the pitching for the Firemen J. Maher, B. Gall, and C. Jackson did the heaviest clouting of the ball.

McCarthy Will Lead All-Stars

Manger Of Yankees Will Supplant Cochrane For All-Star Game July 7

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 20.—Due to the illness of Manager Mickey Cochrane of the Detroit Tigers the veteran Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees will pilot the American League All-Stars in the July 7 game at Boston, it was announced today.

William Harridge, president of the American League, today said that Cochrane's illness will make it impossible for the Detroit pilot to fulfill his assignment as generalissimo of the American League squad. McCarthy has consented to carry on for Cochrane and "will assume full charge of the players," Harridge said.

After the fan poll of sixteen players has been announced McCarthy will have the privilege of selecting five additional members of the team to complete the active list of 21, Harridge declared.

A candidate never feels sure of the nomination till the big shots get together to ston him.

Strong Note In Stock Market

Gains Are Made By Some
Stocks Although Trading Is Quiet

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 20.—The stock market closed the week on a strong note today, stimulated by the hope that congress would adjourn before Monday.

Trading was quiet but gains were substantial and ran to two points in some active leaders. Further trade gains, with steel operations scheduled for a new rise next week, contributed to the advance.

Chrysler gained nearly two points to cross 100 for the first time in around two months. General Motors was fractionally higher.

Steel was stimulated by the new counter-seasonal rise in operations. U. S. Steel rose over a point.

Some industrials scored substantial gains, including American Can, U. S. Gypsum, Johns Manville, and Westinghouse. Rails were inclined to lag. Oils and utilities were steady with few price changes of consequence.

Commodities continued their bull market. Gains in wheat ran to three cents a bushel while cotton rose 50 cents a bale to new highs. Bonds were irregular.

Cavalrymen
Reach Camp

Fifty Second Brigade In
Camp At Indiantown
Gap For Two Weeks

(International News Service)
INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., June 20.—Horses and men with full field equipment moved into the state military reservation here today as the 52nd Cavalry Brigade, Pennsylvania National Guard, began a 15-day encampment opening summer maneuvers that will extend through September.

Commanded by Brig. Gen. E. J. Stackpole, Jr., Harrisburg, the 1400 officers and men comprising the brigade were drawn from communities scattered throughout Central and Eastern Pennsylvania. It is the first year the brigade has not camped at Mt. Gretna, east of here.

Tentative plans call for a review of the unit by Gov. George H. Earle one week from tomorrow.

Although the new reservation will not see "war games" as ambitious as those carried out last year by the third corps area, training will continue until summer's end with these units participating:

Twenty-eighth division, July 18 to August 1; 29th division, August 8 to 22; reserve officers, 99th division (western Pennsylvania), August 22 to September 25. From September 28 to October 23, the reservation will be occupied by 130 officers of the United States navy.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Random-musing: There is an echoing loneliness about the 8th Avenue subway stations, particularly on a Sunday afternoon. . . . Now and again you pass a well-dressed and clear-eyed old gentleman occupying a bench there underground, hands propped on a cane and he full of unguessed meditations. . . . Also, why are the Byzantine lounges of the movie palaces always springing with people mysteriously waiting? . . . The lights are dim and you have a feeling these folk have been here all day, perhaps for weeks—that sun-light would blind them and they have fled to sanctuary here because they couldn't find enough stones. . . .

Sudden decision: I'd like to see H. G. Wells executing a waltz. . . . Joe Cook, Jr., is rapidly winning his Broadway spurs as a dancer. . . . He has the flair for timing and showmanship that children of theatrical families seem to absorb so easily. . . . The impalpable something that differentiates the professional from the amateur. . . . Yet few children of big name show folk ever achieve absolute front rank in the same profession; I've often wondered why. . . . Offhand, I can think of only Mrs. Maurice Barrymore and her daughter Ethel. . . .

From Washington comes the yarn that when Congressman Bankhead was elevated recently to Speaker of the House, colleagues in the cloak-room asked him how it felt and he quipped: "I feel almost as famous as my daughter, Talulah!" . . . Sillyest of the new "handies": press thumb to forehead, make winding motion at ear, pop out tongue—that's a cash-register. . . . The ecstatic followers of "Father Divine, leader of the strange Harlem religious sect, have an official sweetmeat: chocolate peanut bars. . . . Fried chicken is the official entree. . . . Adrian, the Hollywood exquisite and costume designer, is not a marcelled Frenchman, as many think, but hails from Naugatuck, Connecticut. . . . There is a rumor around town that Fredric March may collect $100,000 from Mussolini for exacting the role of Columbus in an official Fascist film. . . .

Fifty-second Street, thoroughfare of the flashy niteries like "Leon and Eddie's" and "21" and "The Onyx" (where "The Music Goes 'Round and Around" first caught Manhattan's ear) is beginning to rival Broadway in ground-floor rentals. . . . Yet for residential purposes it still is cheap; the flaring signs and thump-thump of swing music attend to that. . . . Once I lived in a Manhattan flat which overlooked a red-and-blue on-and-off sign which said "DANCING" all night long. . . . I have never been able to dance with much enjoyment since. . . . The metropolitan equivalents of old-fashioned drug-store cowboys, jelly beans or plain loafers, are executing a racket that is driving restaurant proprietors to distraction. . . . They strike up acquaintance with young, silly and indiscreet girls in pairs and foursomes and invite them to dine in tiny cafes. . . . After having dined and wined they fill the lads bow out, on one temporary pretext or another, and leave the girls holding the bag—and the check. . . . A Greenwich Village headwater tells me that he always looks for a watch chain when giving doubtful strangers seeking tables the once-over. . . . A man with a ring may be a chiseler, but if he has one of those clanky gold watch-chains he is honest as the day is long, nine times out of ten.

AROUND CITY HALL

City hall folks miss Glenn R. Throop, the genial city engineer, who has undergone an operation for appendicitis. However, they are all pleased to hear that the engineer is getting along well and from now on is expected to recover rapidly. . . . As the city's only one who understands matters which only he understands and no doubt the city council will be some what handicapped until he returns although John Street named to work in Throop's place until his return, jumped into the work and has been doing fine.

Death of Francis (Puggy) Ryan, by a bullet from a Ben Avon policeman's revolver once again proves that crime does not pay. Ever since the holdup at the local liquor store the agencies of law here struggled to find out who committed the second robbery. At first they believed there was a connection between the first and second holdups but could not verify their suspicions. However, when a State police teletype carried news of the Pittsburgh shooting, local officers with witnesses went there and the witnesses identified Ryan as one of the local bandits.

Charles Colnot, city mechanic, has been instructed by Police Chief Ralph Criswell to fix the life-boat carrier in such a way that the carrier can be hooked onto the rear end of a cruiser or any other other police car. In case of any one going under the water the boat can be hauled to the scene and launched. The city has a pulmotor, grappling hooks and a life boat. They have always responded to outlying sections if notified immediately.

National honor: Jailing a man who bribes voters; maintaining a useless army post to help a loyal Congressman get votes.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LIFE IN APARTMENT

IT HAS JUST occurred to me that I never have written especially about the apartment house child. Strange that I have not, since my two older children spent their first few years of life in an apartment house of a big city. I faithfully devoted many a Saturday afternoon and Sunday to getting these babies out for fresh air and sunshine, a task the mother generally had the remainder of the week. I know what it is to push a baby carriage and a baby cart, and not only on the sidewalk; I also know something about totting these vehicles up and down several flights of stairs.

Well, these two babies got more sunlight than their younger brother later who was hauled around in an automobile. The modern automobile does not make sunshine easily available for the babies carried so gently in it. Incidentally, parents today don't get the whole exercise themselves that they used to get pushing baby carriages. I should explain that there were lots of automobiles when our first children were babies, but not enough dollars in possession of their parents to buy such things.

Babies Sun On Roofs

Many apartments today have sun yards for babies on the roof, and some now have windows which admit the ultra-violet rays. As for air, the apartment several stories high can have it a lot fresher, and less dusty, merely by opening windows. The average baby would be a whole lot better off in a room with windows open and screened than out on the shady street.

A contribution of some modern apartments is the common nursery, or nursery school, for young children. At best, it is well equipped and under skilled leadership provided by the landlord. Also there's a common playground in the court, likewise supervised. Sometimes the playground is on the roof—a better place—affording more sunshine and purer air.

Both for mother and young child, the "flat" has some obvious advantages over the home of two or more stories, and there are fewer dangers. Apartment life offers not so many handicaps to babies as to older children. But the toddler and runabout there are likely to have their play life seriously cramped.

For your kind words to me and the editor of your paper about my column, I am most grateful. Like yourself, I sometimes become dejected, and your encouragement does me a lot of good. Be assured that I am glad to read and answer personally all your letters. If I seem a little slow in answering, please be patient; my mail is heavy.

'Y' Swim Campaign Closes Today With Hike, Bean Dinner

Host Of New Swimmers Turn Out For Gala Finale Of 10-Day Course

A stiff hike into the outlying district of the city, followed by a cooling swim in the "Y" pool and a tasty bean dinner in the dining hall, brought to a close today the annual 10-day "Learn to swim" campaign of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Nearly 100 carefree lads between 10 and 18 years of age took part. Nearly 200 had attended the daily instruction classes conducted by competent "Y" instructors. Complete figures will be announced next week.

"The boys had a real time of it and a large number today can swim where before they could not," General Secretary R. L. Meermans declared. Physical Director Henry T. MacNicholas supervised the campaign.

Better not ruin little fellows. The fewer men in a business, the easier it is to pass laws against them.
